MY SCHOOL

My school is a wonderful place where I learn something new every day. The classrooms are full of happy memories and creative ideas. The teachers and staff are very kind and helpful. It is a safe place where we get to learn many interesting things. The playground has colourful flowers and tall trees and we love to compare who is taller! During recess, we enjoy sharing our lunch and talking about our day. The library is a quiet place where we improve our vocabulary and enjoy reading books. Fun activities like art, dance, and music make our school time exciting. We also go on fun trips like visiting water parks, dairies, and biscuit factories. The computer lab is where we explore new software and learn new skills.

I love my school because it is a place where we all grow, play and learn together.

I LEARN TO HEAL

When I was young, my voice was blurred,
Words uttered with a hesitant slur.
I tried to speak, but no one heard,
Lost in the silence, without a word.
Now I've grown and come to see,
The quiet child is still a part of me.
Though there's a new me,
A part of that innocent self, I'll always be.
I've studied the wounds, the ache inside,
And found the strength to no longer hide.
With ink and pen, now I unseal,
The invisible scars that slowly heal.
As dawn arrives, I start to heal,
A silent storm, my soul reveal.
In every stroke, I learn to heal.

REVOLUTION OF CARS THROUGH MY EYES

One of the most important modes of transportation is via land transport; this refers specifically to automobiles, also known as cars. Since the creation of these in the late 19th century, the technological advancements have been immense and their impact on society is arguably even greater. Throughout history, the invention of automobiles has continuously changed the world, our lifestyles and transportation as we know it. As technology advances so will the automotive industry.

The four essential components of an automobile are the chassis, the engine, the transmission system, and the body.

The evolution of automobiles is specifically based on technology used in transmission power.

It might surprise you that the first automobiles were actually steam and electrically powered. These were being developed as early as the late 1700s and early 1800s.

(1) Nicolas-Joseph Cugnot, a French inventor, built the first automobiles in the world in 1769. It was a steam-powered vehicle capable of human transportation. The model was inspired by a heavy army horse cart, which replaced the horse with a third wheel mounted at the front, bearing a steam boiler.

(2) one of the biggest milestones in automobile history was achieved by the man Henry Ford in 1908. This was the creation of an affordable car that the general population could buy because of the invention of the assembly line. The four-cylinder, twenty-horsepower Model T was first offered in October 1908.

(3) Gasoline-powered cars use a spark-ignited internal combustion engine to run on gasoline. The engine uses a spark plug to ignite a mixture of air and gasoline in the combustion chamber, which turns the wheels and propels the car forward.

(4) An electric motor is a machine that converts electric energy into mechanical energy. Most electric motors operate through the interaction between the motor's magnetic field and electric current in a wire winding to generate force in the form of torque applied on the motor's shaft. An electric generator is mechanically identical to an electric motor but operates in reverse, converting mechanical energy into electrical energy. Electric motors can be powered by direct current (DC) sources, such as from batteries or rectifiers, or by alternating current (AC) sources, such as a power grid, inverters or electrical generators.

ROOTS OF STRENGTH

A Step Beyond the Walls

The bell that rang a thousand days,
Now fades behind in quiet haze.

These halls we've walked with dreams so wide,
Now whisper memories deep inside.

From nervous steps that marked day one,
To strides we took as journeys spun,
We laughed, we cried, we sometimes fell,
Yet in each moment, we learned so well.

Pages filled with thoughts and dreams,
Silent battles, whispered screams.
Friendships bloomed like springtime trees,
In corridors filled with memories.

Now we stand on the edge of change,
The world ahead, both bright and strange.
But in our hearts, one truth stays true –
The roots of strength we found in you.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE: OUR SMART HELPER

Artificial Intelligence is like a super smart robot helper that can learn, think and solve problems—just like our brains do! It is made by people and used in computers and machines. These days, we can see AI almost everywhere and it is becoming a very important part of our lives.

Advantages of AI:

AI can do many different tasks. It can work all the time without getting tired and usually doesn't make mistakes. We can also use AI to have fun, like playing games or watching movies. It feels like AI can help us in many ways.

Disadvantages of AI:

If we depend on AI too much, we might stop using our own brains. That's why it's important to keep thinking and learning by ourselves.

"THE QUEEN OF OUR HOME = MY MOM!"

My mother's name is Nancy. She is very cute and beautiful—just like a fairy from my bedtime stories! Her favourite colour is yellow, so even our pillows have yellow covers (thanks to her). She is a housewife and works very hard—even harder than a superhero (but without a cape). She takes care of everyone in the family, even my plants that I forget to water! My mother loves cooking and gardening. Sometimes she makes funny-shaped rotis, and we call them “roti cartoons.” She also teaches me good things like discipline, but when I leave my toys everywhere, she gives me “the look” (you know what I mean!). I think my mother is the best mother in the whole world—even better than the queens in stories. I love my mother very much—more than ice cream.

VISIT TO THE POST OFFICE

Nowadays, people rarely use the post office for sending letters because of modern technology like emails and messaging apps. However, the post office still plays an important role in our lives, offering many valuable services beyond just mailing letters.

We are thankful to our school for organizing this wonderful trip and giving us the opportunity to learn so much outside the classroom.

During our school trip to the post office, we learned about the services they offer, including mailing letters and packages, sending money, and even providing insurance. When one of my classmates asked the post office staff about insurance, I was excited to share my knowledge. I explained that insurance is a way to protect ourselves from unexpected events like accidents or losses, and how it can provide financial security. The staff were impressed that I knew about insurance, and everyone in our group was surprised. Our teacher was proud of me, and it was a great moment to showcase what I had learned.

To make our experience even sweeter, the post office staff surprised us with chocolates. They also gave each of us a postcard and asked us to write our address and a message of our choice. I wrote a heartfelt postcard to my father, telling him all about our fun trip to the post office and how much I love him. I carefully dropped the postcard into the mailbox, and it felt amazing to send a piece of myself to him through the mail.

It was an incredible experience, and I realized how important the post office is in our daily life. I had a blast learning about the services and meeting the friendly staff.

WITH GRATITUDE AND GRACE: A JOURNEY OF MEMORIES AND MILESTONES

Straight from the heart, I want to convey my deepest gratitude to everyone who has been a part of this beautiful journey (Primary School).

To my amazing teachers, who supported me, guided me and kept the spark alive in me to participate in almost everything. You gave me that extra push to take on multitasking—and for that, I'm deeply grateful.

To my messy yet heartening friends—thank you for never letting me miss out on the masti.

These words wouldn't be complete without mentioning the unwavering support from our teachers and Principal Sir. Our ideas, our dreams, our teachers' efforts and the school's intellectual foundation stand tall only because of the pillar-like support Sir Principal provides.

Now, as we begin a new chapter, we will learn more, grow more, make mistakes, and master them too. We'll gather new experiences and explore fresh paths—just like our school has always encouraged us to do.

And to my parents, thank you for being my backbone, my first teachers, and my first school.

This journey has been memorable, and I could complete it smoothly only because of the love and support I received. But there are miles to go and heights to conquer—so please, shower us with your blessings.

DIARY OF A WIMPY KID: RODRICK RULES

By: Jeff Kinney

IX-A

This story is about younger brother Greg and his older brother Rodrick. Greg's mother forced him to write a journal last year, and now again, she is forcing him to do the same thing. So now again he has to write it and hide it from Rodrick. This book tells us about how Greg spent his summer vacation, as he started going to the central pool with his friend because he got a membership. They even took a lonely person with them, but it didn't turn out to be a good idea, and they got kicked because they complained about the temperature. Another time, Rodrick wrote 'Rodrick's Rules' on the door and they had to paint the entire thing again. Rodrick eventually found Greg's journal and got to know his secret. This is a great book and fun to read.

LIFE IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT

By: Preeti Shenoy

'Life Is What You Make It' is an inspiring novel by an Indian author Preeti Shenoy that explores the power of resilience and the human spirit in the face of mental health struggles. Set in the 1980s, the story follows Ankita Sharma, a bright, ambitious young woman whose seemingly perfect life begins to unravel as she struggles with a psychological disorder.

Beginning with Ankita's college days filled with love, ambition, and promise, her life takes a dramatic turn as she battles internal turmoil that leads her to a mental health crisis. What makes the book stand out, is its message that even when life goes out of control, hope and determination can bring you back. Preeti Shenoy's book is simple yet relates to all, especially teenagers.

'Life Is What You Make It' is a heartfelt read that reminds us that no matter how dark the present may seem, there's always light ahead.

IKIGAI

First and foremost, I would like to extend my heartfelt thanks to the Presidency family for providing us with such a vast and enriching collection of books.

Last week, during my routine visit to the Presidency Library, I was pleased to see Ma'am Pragati Narwade once again putting in sincere efforts to make the library more engaging and reader-friendly. After a warm and insightful conversation with her, I picked up Ikigai to read.

Reading Ikigai was truly a remarkable journey. Japan holds the highest life expectancy in the world, and within it, the region of Okinawa surpasses even the national average. This book beautifully explores the secret behind such longevity.

Ikigai is centered around the idea of having a purpose — something that makes life truly worth living. It focuses on the centenarians of Ogimi, a village in Okinawa, and delves into the daily habits and philosophies that contribute to their long, happy lives.

The book offers not just inspiring insights but also practical guidance — from dietary habits and mental outlook to physical and emotional well-being.

As an Army officer, I particularly appreciated the book's practicality. It's not just a collection of motivational advice, but a thoughtful guide filled with actionable steps that nurture both the body and mind.
